Apart from the Roman centurion and the two others crucified with him, those who were, according to John's Gospel, closest to the dying Christ as his agony upon the cross drew to its conclusion were his mother Mary, her sister, the wife of Clopas and Mary of Magdala (Mary Magdalene) who would be the first to encounter the risen Lord. Christ had cured her of mental illness and she had a clear and profound affection for him. Christ's passion – as we shall rediscover in three weeks' time – is prolonged, unrelieved and brutal. The only softening of it, the only hint of love and concern, comes from the actions and the feelings of those women who witnessed it. It seems most improbable that the four women were unaware of what the Christ whom they loved was experiencing. It also seems probable that their love and devotion in the face of the most brutal treatment by almost every male representative of the political, military and religious factions responsible for Christ's conviction and execution were the only comfort, the only expression of human love and compassion available to Christ during the last hours of his Passion.

We know from experience that it is more often women that hold the fabric of family life together and it is the emotional intelligence of women that causes them to become social healers and conciliators.

The Gospels contain accounts of many encounters of Christ with women. From a reading of many of Christ's parables it is clear that he too had a penetrating emotional intelligence – which may well explain why women were drawn to him, despite their relatively disadvantaged status in Jewish society. Society without mothers now – as at any time in human history – would not exist. Today we honour them.

Collect

God of love, passionate and strong, tender and careful: watch over us and hold us all the days of our life; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Reading 1 Samuel 1.20-28

In due time Hannah conceived and bore a son. She named him Samuel, for she said, 'I have asked him of the Lord.'

The man Elkanah and all his household went up to offer to the Lord the yearly sacrifice, and to pay his vow. But Hannah did not go up, for she said to her husband, 'As soon as the child is weaned, I will bring him, that he may appear in the presence of the Lord, and remain there for ever; I will offer him as a nazirite for all time.' Her husband Elkanah said to her, 'Do what seems best to you, wait until you have weaned him; only - may the Lord establish his word.' so the woman remained and nursed her son, until she weaned him. When she had weaned him, she took him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull, an ephah of flour, and a skin of wine. She brought him to the house of the Lord at Shiloh; and the child was young. Then they slaughtered the bull, and they brought the child to Eli. And she said, 'Oh, my lord! As you live, my lord, I am the woman who was standing here in your presence, praying to the Lord. For this child I prayed; and the Lord has granted me the petition that I made to him. Therefore I have lent him to the Lord; as long as he lives, he is given to the Lord.' She left him there for the Lord.

Reading Colossians 3.12-17

As God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, clothe yourselves with compassion, kindness, humility, meekness, and patience. Bear with one another and, if anyone has a complaint against another, forgive each other; just as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. Above all, clothe yourselves with love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony. And let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, to which indeed you were called in the one body. And be thankful. Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly; teach and admonish one another in all wisdom; and with gratitude in your hearts sing psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs to God. And whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him.

Gospel John 19.25b-27

Meanwhile, standing near the cross of Jesus were his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene. When Jesus saw his mother and the disciple whom he loved standing beside her, he said to his mother, 'Woman, here is your son.' Then he said to the disciple, 'Here is your mother.'

And from that hour the disciple took her into his own home.

Post Communion

Loving God, as a mother feeds her children at the breast you feed us in this sacrament with the food and drink of eternal life: help us who have tasted your goodness to grow in grace within the household of faith; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen
